

Compliance

There are minimum requirements for your device to be compliant. If your device is considered non-compliant your fortnightly compensation might be stopped.

Microsoft Intune will let you know if there is an issue, so here's a guide to help you understand the tech speak!

Require a password to unlock mobile devices

The system requires you to enter a password to grant access to your device.

You now have corporate information to protect!

Required password type

The password you are using is not complex enough.

You are unable to use passwords such as '1234' or '0000' or 'password'

Minimum password length

Security requirements specify that the minimum password requirement is 4 digits to be compliant.

Minimum OS version

It's important that devices are kept up to date with the latest software versions.

The phone will become non-compliant if you miss a version update.

Maximum minutes of inactivity before password is required

Your device needs a time-out setting turned on so that if you don't use your phone for 15 minutes or less, it will lock automatically.

Require encryption of data storage on device

You are required to have encryption of data storage on your device.

This is a standard setting on most devices. Check the settings on your device if unsure.
