

Car parking is cheaper when you salary package it. Whether it's metred on-street, airport or commercial station parking, you can salary package the expense you incur!

If you work for a registered charity, in public education or for a not for profit scientific institution, and your employer offers car parking as a salary packaging benefit, you may be able to salary package the cost of parking for work.

The three most common types of car parking benefits and the one that applies to you, depends on your personal circumstances. These include:

- 1 Your employer leases a car parking space for you near your work and passes that cost onto you
- 2 You personally pay for car parking (e.g. early bird) near work as part of your regular commute to work
- 3 Any other car parking expense that you incur

Claim your car parking expenses as a reimbursement

Not already salary packaging car parking benefits:
