

Superannuation smartMonday

Superannuation smartMonday

Every organisation has a superannuation account that they offer to employees. This is called a default fund.

You are an employee of Endeavour Foundation

As an employee of Endeavour Foundation you have access to our default superannuation fund.

Our default superannuation fund is called smartMonday.

Superannuation can be hard to understand.

Superannuation is like a special savings plan for the future.

Endeavour Foundation puts money into your superannuation.

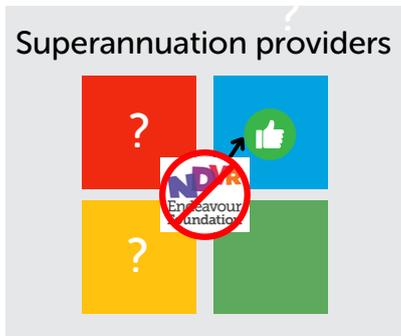

The money in your superannuation grows over time.

It is your choice where you save up your superannuation money.

Superannuation providers

Endeavour Foundation can't choose what superannuation provider you use

After you turn 60 you can use the money when you are finished working or want to work less.

smartMonday can help you understand how it works.

They can help you plan the best way to deal with your money so you can have a good retirement

Retirement is when you stop working.

smartMonday care about people with disabilities and want you to be included.

If you open an account with smartMonday you will get your member fee back.

They have won lots of awards for being really good.

You can get advice from a smartCoach at smartMonday to help you with your superannuation.

If you have a question about superannuation you can speak to a family member or carer.

It's a good idea to talk to someone who knows about money to help you choose what's best for you.
